Beer—32 per cent alcohol by weight, 4 per cent by volume—became legal one minute after midnight today in 10 states and the District of Columbia. Celebrations, however, were not boisterous, as the brewery wagons in most cities did not begin to roll until early morning.

Wine of the same strength, although legalized by congress along with beer, received scant attention in the legislative and municipal control plans.

The states in which the sale of 3.2 beer is permitted are: Arizona, California, Colorado, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Washington and Wisconsin.

In seven other states beer can be sold after these dates: April 13, Louisiana; May 1, Vermont and North Carolina; May 18, Wyoming; June 9, West Virginia; June 30, Maine; North Dakota, July 1.

The states in which no plans have been made or completed for the sale are: Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah and Virginia.

In some of these states beer bills had been defeated; in others they are pending.

The nation's three largest cities welcomed the return of lawful brew with enthusiastic crowds and a general loosening of the elbow joint in hotels, restaurants, night clubs and private homes.

River craft and factory whistles sounded a "wet" as New Yorkers tramped through the rain in search of places where legal beer was ready. Most of the larger hotels waited for the 6 a. m. deadline set by brewers but some hostilities had been on tap from non-organization breweries. A keg of beer was formally buried in a Broadway sewer while the "sourness" alternated between funeral dirges and drinking songs.

Crowds gathered in Chicago's loop and cheered the arrival of keg-laden tabernacles hours before midnight, despite rain and sleet. In one hotel the waiters bore in the first fruits of

Sturdivant, Policemen Urge Beer Legalization

With the name of Chief T. O. Sturdivant leading the list, a petition bearing the signatures of more than 75 Atlanta policemen and detectives, asking Governor Eugene Talmadge to call an extra session of the general assembly to legalize the sale of beer, was in circulation at police headquarters Thursday night.

Commenting after he had signed the petition, Sturdivant said that if Georgia failed to legalize beer the cities and towns of the state would be confronted with a racket of potentially much greater proportions than that involved now in the bootlegging of liquor.

"So long as the law remains as it is, I propose to enforce it, but it will mean that I will have to assign a great many more men to the prohibition squad in order to even the book to stop beer running and selling," Sturdivant said.

TALMADGE COOL TOWARD SESSION; UNWISE, HE SAYS

Governor Answers Demands for Beer Call. Sees No Need for Immediate Action.

The hopes of beer advocates for a special session of Georgia legislature to legalize the beverage were given a severe setback Thursday when Governor Eugene Talmadge revealed that he does "not think that there are any developments at present necessitating any immediate call of a session of the legislature."

The governor's views were made known in a form letter he had prepared and which will be sent to all those who write him urging or opposing the widely discussed proposed special session.

The letter is the first public statement of the governor's position and although it apparently closes the door for immediate action it does leave the way open for the legislature's call in the event the demand of beer advocates assumes such a proportion that it cannot be ignored.

The governor received many more letters during the day, some urging him to call the session, others urging him to delay. He also received information that the Consolidated Forces for Prohibition were massing their forces over the state to lobby for an early call to modify the dry law in Georgia and he also received a resolution from the Athens Ministerial Association urging him not to call the session.

Meanwhile it was learned that attaches of the house of representatives were following the lead set by a number of members of the house and had informed Speaker E. D. Rivers that they were willing to serve in a special session without pay. These attaches

Suffering Breakdown, Atlantan Ends Life

A nervous breakdown brought on by overwork was assigned by officers of the coroner's office as the cause of the death of Frank G. Dobson, 54, of 1220 Duval place, secretary and treasurer of the Tripod Paint Company.

Dobson shot himself through the head about 10:15 Thursday morning while in the rear of the company's main store at 61 Pryor street. He died an hour later at Grady hospital.

Hugh Terrell, head bookkeeper for the company, told hospital attaches that Dobson had been in a despondent condition for some time. He came to Atlanta about five years ago from South Carolina and was a member of the Druid Hills Baptist church.

Young Atlanta Wife Slayer, Woman Life-Termer Freed

Ernest Eich, young Atlanta wife slayer, and Mrs. Nora Duren, convicted of murder 10 years ago after one of the most sensational trials in south Georgia, were pardoned Thursday by Governor Eugene Talmadge.

Three other persons were issued a parole granted to a sixth prisoner during the day.

Eich was charged with the murder of his wife, Elizabeth, who was shot and killed during an argument in the Eich home on Washington street in January of 1923. He first was convicted to life imprisonment but the prison commission refused his appeal for clemency but Governor Talmadge said that a study of the record revealed that there was grave doubt as to Eich's guilt. Eich's application was handled by Attorney L. B. Guillebeau.

Mrs. Duren, mother of four children, was tried and convicted of the killing of Ira James, railroad foreman, in the Duren store, near Waycross, in August of 1923, and was given a life sentence. The case at-

VINSON TO DIRECT SWEEPING INQUIRY INTO AKRON CRASH

Open Congressional Investigation To Supplement Naval Court's Study of Aerial Tragedy

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—A committee of congress jumped ahead of the navy today to sift the meagerly known facts of the tragedy of the Akron in a public investigation which will start tomorrow with the three survivors as witnesses.

This sudden decision to take the lead was made by a house naval committee after talking in a secret session to Lieutenant Commander Herbert V. Wiley, lone remaining officer of the Leviathan of the skies.

The meeting took place just after Wiley had shed new light on the disaster which early Tuesday destroyed the ship off the Jersey coast with appalling loss of life, and also while plans were afoot to have the Akron investigation taken over by members not connected with any navy interests.

"We propose," said Representative Vinson, democrat, Georgia, chairman of the house group, "to investigate every phase of the accident as well as to look into the military and commercial value of airships."

"It will be an open investigation from top to bottom with all witnesses under oath," he said.

"If witnesses who know things will not appear voluntarily we will ask the house for authority to demand their presence by subpoena."

Vinson added that he proposed to make public a special report the justice department had received on alleged sabotage activities on the Akron by Paul E. Kasner. That report was filed with the justice department two years ago but has not been made public.

Wiley's fresh information was given to the navy in terse phrases of an official report which minutely reported all the facts and impressions that he and his two companions could remember. Outstanding were these statements:

A wind gust of terrific intensity, short and sudden as a blow, struck the ship as she battled to stay up in the face of a storm.

As the ship was struck by this

HERBERT STRAUS DIES IN NEW YORK

Was Brother of Recently Appointed Ambassador To France.

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—Herbert N. Straus, 51, one of the "triumvirate" of merchants and financiers, died at his home in Park avenue late today.

Straus, president of L. Bamberger and Company, Newark department store, and vice president of R. H. Macy & Co., of New York, was a brother of Jesse Isidor Straus, recently appointed ambassador to France.

Straus was said by members of his family to have been suffering from a heart ailment the last six weeks.

A native of New York, Straus was educated at Harvard University. During the World War he turned to his business activities to become a member of the Hoover food administration in Washington and later to serve as controller of the war trade board.

Jesse Isidor Straus, asked if his

Railroad Rate Warfare Is Launched in South

L. & N. and N., C. & St. L. Lines Expected To Act if Southern's Application for 1 1/2 Cent Fare Is Granted.

Railroad rate warfare broke out Thursday in the south with experimental rates for the heavy artillery as the Southern Railway System filed an application with the interstate commerce commission in Washington for permission to apply one-and-a-half-cent day coach rates to lines in the territory of the Louisville & Nashville, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, which are operating on a temporary rate of two cents a mile.

Although without authority to speak for executive heads of the roads, local offices of the Louisville & Nashville and the N. C. & St. L. railroads said that the southern application for experimental rates is adopted their roads probably will follow suit and seek to drop from their temporary rate of two cents to the new one-and-a-half-cent rate.

"Our road started the rate reductions, and we certainly will not be outdistanced by any other road," was the comment of an L. & N. passenger office spokesman. "But, the entire matter is being handled by our president personally."

Passenger officials of the A. & W. P. and the Georgia railroads, which have joined in the two-cents-a-mile rate, said they did not know what action will be taken by their roads when and if the Southern application is granted, because "the Southern does not compete with our lines."

Adopting of experimental lower rates by the rail carriers was seen as an aggressive fight of the railroads against motor bus competition. The Louisville, Nashville, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, which are operating on a temporary rate of two cents a mile, were expected to follow suit.

The petition of the Southern, filed by the office of E. N. Aiken, Atlanta, assistant passenger traffic manager, was taken under consideration by the interstate commission. The railway seeks, in addition to the cent-and-a-half day coach fare, an experimental rate of 1.5 cent current published first-class one-way fares on round-trip fares for tickets good in sleeping or parlor cars. This amounts to two cents per mile in each direction, with round-trip tickets good for 15 days.

NEW SCRIP ISSUE VETOED BY MAYOR

Special Meeting of Finance, Ordinance Committees Called Monday.

On the heels of the veto Thursday by Mayor James L. Key of a proposal to issue about $350,000 worth of city scrip to meet March pay rolls to 4,000 employees, Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of the finance committee, called a special meeting of that body and the ordinance committee for 3 o'clock Monday afternoon to aid in solving the financial crisis facing the city and to pave the way, if possible, for early payment of back salaries.

Key vetoed the scrip because members of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association advised him it would be impossible to absorb it until after the scrip issued for December salaries and which matures May 20, is retired.

Key also advised that the city could not issue scrip until after the city's borrowing power with Atlanta banks. No money can be borrowed until a balanced sheet is approved, he has been announced, and no funds for meeting pay rolls are available, and will not be until after May 15.

The finance and ordinance committees also are expected to consider a proposal to establish another taxicab company in Atlanta at the Monday meeting, and Gilliam invited the public interested in the proposal to attend the hearing on a petition of the Economy Cab Company to be allowed to operate.

Moifett Urged Towers as Successor, Letter to Aeronautic Head Reveals

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 6.—(AP)—Porter Adams said today he recently received a letter from Rear Admiral William Moifett, one of the dirigible Akron's victims, in which he suggested that Captain John H. Towers, formerly assistant chief, as a successor to Moifett after next November 1, when Moifett was to have been retired.

Adams is chairman of the executive committee of the National Aeronautic Association, a member of the Vermont legislature and a trustee of the Daniel Guggenheim Aviation Foundation.

"I had a letter from Admiral Moifett on February 28," Adams said, "in which he mentioned the fact that his term would expire on March 13, although he had been requested to stay on until his retirement on November 1.

"I'm backing Towers because I think there is a great battle ahead (with the economy program) and it is essential for the navy's interest, if for no other reason, that the head of this bureau be an aviator and a real one."

Adams said that "to carry on Admiral Moifett's work, I think he would want Captain Towers. He is an old-time navy pilot now on sea duty."

Admiral Moifett opposed consolidation of the air units, and felt the navy should have its own aviation. I think Captain Towers would fight for this, and also to keep the present ships, at least."

Adams said he did not believe there was any structural failure involved in the Akron's accident.

SPIRITED ADVANCE IN ALL MARKETS PACED BY GRAINS

Cotton Pushes Up 45 to 50 Cents a Bale as Wheat Reaches New Year's Highs.

By GILES I. FINDLEY.
CHICAGO, April 6.—(AP)—Grains paced all financial and commodity markets into higher ground today.

A booming rise at the very outset of trading carried most grain prices to the highest levels for nearly a year, and advances from that stage were only of a minor character.

Talk of currency inflation by a group of industrialists, and reports of freezing temperatures in Kansas where the wheat crop has already been reported seriously curtailed by unfavorable weather brought buyers to the grain pits in a hurry.

Opening transactions found wheat as much as 1 1/4 cents a bushel higher than yesterday's vigorous rise with corn 1 1/2 cents up. September wheat contracts later crawled up almost 2 cents above yesterday to a peak of 90 1/8 cents a bushel, the highest price paid for wheat in many months.

A single car of No. 2 red wheat sold in the cash grain market for 63 cents a bushel the highest cash price paid in Chicago since March 1932.

Security markets felt the pull of grains and also scored a sharp rise early, advancing 1 to 3 points. Later, however, stocks quietly tapered off and many gains were halved.

Issues of companies that produce raw materials held up well in the reactions from top levels.

Rails were quiet, chiefly because bullish news on grains, especially wheat, meant smaller wheat shipments. Farm implements, metal, food, rubber and steel stocks were fairly steady.

Grains pushed up with the grains, heavy buying orders and covering sales by short operators enabling it to finish with net gains of 45 to 50 cents a bale, as it did yesterday.

A stronger tone was noted in sugar and coffee, both commodities encountering good buying.

Grains reacted at the close from the day's peak prices, but held well above yesterday's final quotations.

Three Atlanta women were seriously hurt, one of them probably fatally, early Thursday night when Mrs. W. Frank Byrd, 32, of 214 Poplar circuit, lost control of the car she was driving and the machine crashed into the wall of Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. John A. Ray, of an Euclid avenue address, riding with Mrs. Byrd, suffered both legs broken. Mrs. Byrd's left leg was broken and the right shoulder of Mrs. R. L. Yarbray, 210 Stovall street, the third passenger, was broken.

Mrs. Byrd was injured internally and also had a possible fracture of the skull. All were under treatment at Georgia Baptist hospital.

According to police, Mrs. Byrd was driving East on Fair street when she started to cross a car driven by Hugh R. Adershol, going in the same direction. The hub caps of the wheels of

Cummings Places Ban On U. S. Liquor Traps

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Attorney-General Cummings sounded the end for the use of entrapments to catch prohibition violators by asserting today that it would stop in the general effort of the new administration to eradicate "injustices" in enforcement of the dry laws.

The attorney-general told newspapermen that "the use of entrapments has in many instances heretofore led to gross injustices, and we are aiming at eradication of these injustices."

He said the movement which will be centered in A. V. Dalmayre, the new prohibition director, was all part of a program to have the cleanest service that can be developed.

CONGRESS LOOKS FOR ADJOURNMENT DURING LATE MAY

Solons Setting Record Pace in Disposition of Roosevelt Emergency Measures.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Congress, laboring on administration proposals, forged into its second month today, so determined to maintain its record pace that leaders talked confidently of a late May adjournment.

Much remained to be done on the Roosevelt program, as far as federal securities regulation and a mutual fund reform bill dominated at the capitol. But leaders surveyed their March achievements, discussed presidential recommendations to come, and marked the last two weeks of May as the possible quitting period.

Representative Byrnes, the democratic floor leader, looked hopefully for a May 15 adjournment. Speaker Rainey thought it would be two weeks later, as he ruled silver out of the legislative program and added his support to including naval building in a public construction program.

Pending Roosevelt proposals still were principally in the committee stage. But other committees were expected to receive next week and expedite to passage the president's Muscle Shoals plan.

The house talked a while and then recessed over the week-end to give its interstate commerce committee time to finish up the securities bill and to permit the agriculture committee to polish provisions of the farm mortgage measure.

The senate again debated and finally passed, 53 to 30, the Black bill for a 30-hour-work-week in industry. But unless this plan was recognized

Cummings to Curtail Justice Personnel

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Drastic curtailment of department of justice personnel to effect economies has begun by Attorney-General Cummings, with salaries totaling some $200,000 annually said to be already whittled away.

He has been surprised by the large number of people on the payroll who serve no useful purpose, he said today, and "they will be eliminated as quickly as I can get to it. I have just set my hand to the plow and I don't intend to turn back."

More than two score employees of the department were being stricken from the rolls already and Mr. Cummings said the lopping off of several hundred more would be a very conservative estimate.

Asked by newspapermen what the effect of this would be on the distribution of patronage, the attorney-general replied: "That's a what is worrying the politicians."

Girl Repudiates Testimony Against 'Scottsboro' Negroes

DECATUR, Ala., April 6.—(AP)—Ruby Bates, the missing witness of the Scottsboro case, came into a star-studded courtroom today and denied that she was ever assaulted by eight negroes who are on trial for attacking her and another white girl.

"No, sir," said Ruby when Samuel S. Leibowitz, of New York, chief of defense counsel, asked "Were you attacked about the freight train that afternoon?"

The girl—missing since February 27—appeared just as the defense prepared to rest its case in behalf of Haywood Patterson, 19-year-old Chattanooga negro and the first defendant to face retrial here.

She said she had been in New York, where she met Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor of the Riverside Baptist church. She told the minister her story, she testified, and he sent her to Birmingham to see Dr. Charles C. Klingman, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Advent.

And then she came here and told from the stand a dramatic story, said but gripping, of her adventures. Ruby testified against the negroes in their first trial at Scottsboro. She said then she was assaulted.

HOUSE FIGHT SEEN ON PLAN TO LIMIT WEEK TO 36 HOURS

Roosevelt Reported Withholding Decision on Legislation Pending Further Study of Measure Passed by Senate.

By H. HAROLD OLIVER.
WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—By a margin of 23 votes, the senate today passed and sent to the house one of the most drastic legislative attempts ever made to overcome machine age unemployment problems—a bill limiting labor in manufacturing industries to five days a week and six hours a day.

The measure, sponsored by Senator Black, democrat, Alabama, and approved 53 to 30, would take effect 30 days after enactment and remain in operation for two years.

Democratic leaders would not pretend that President Roosevelt's attitude might be, but they did expect the measure to be modified in the house, if taken up there, probably to make the work week 36 hours.

Mr. Roosevelt was reported to be withholding any decision on the legislation pending further study of the form in which it passed the senate.

The modification to 36 hours was proposed today by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, but it was beaten, 48 to 40, with 35 democrats, 12 republicans and 1 farmer-labor voting against it.

Robinson had predicted the 36-hour week would be acceptable to the president.

The house cannot take up the measure until next week, as it recessed today until Monday. Speaker Rainey has said the house would not consider it unless it were made part of the president's emergency program, but Senator Black, who has conferred with Mr. Roosevelt on the subject, is confident the body will take it up.

Advocates of the bill argued it would put 6,000,000 jobless back into employment on a share-work basis, and that it would be upheld by the supreme court despite the 5-to-4 decision of that tribunal holding the child labor law unconstitutional.

Opponents claimed it was "flagrant" unconstitutional and would result in increased unemployment, confusion and discrimination.

Penalties provided. As finally passed, after many exemptions were added, the measure would bar any worker from employment under penalty of $200 fine or three months in prison, or both, any article

SCOUT PRESS CLUB
HONORS W. A. DOBSON

Work of Atlanta Executive
Lauded at Testimonial Dinner.

A surprise testimonial dinner to W. A. Dobson, Atlanta Boy Scout executive, was given Thursday night at the Peachtree Arcade cafeteria by the Atlanta Boy Scout Press Club at its annual meeting. The dinner was arranged by William L. Brady, president of the club, and Dr. Louis B. Newton was toastmaster. Mr. Dobson, who has been accredited with being the motive force behind all scouting in Atlanta, was presented with a cake bearing 37 candles in token of his birthday, which was Thursday. He was also presented with a bound volume of written testimonials from friends and fellow Scout workers. Mrs. Dobson, who was co-guest of honor with her husband, was presented with a large bouquet of roses. All speakers praised the personality and the work of Mr. Dobson. Among the speakers were Hal F. Hentz, of the board of directors; Dr. Herman L. Turner, Scout commissioner; C. L. Adams, assistant Scout executive; C. Graham Green, president of the Scouters' Club; E. H. Rice, vice president of the advisory council to the press club; Henry L. Bowden, president of the Emory student body; A. L. Myers, deputy Scout commissioner. SPANISH LINER FREED FROM FLORIDA REEF carrying 104 passengers and cargo of wines and preserves, proceeded under her own power.

MIAMI, Fla., April 6.—(AP)—The Spanish liner Marques De Comillas was Havana-bound again today after being pulled free of Caryfort reef, on which she ran aground Tuesday night.

She was pulled free of the reef, 40 miles south of Miami, about 6:30 a. m., the coast guard cutter Unalga reported in messages to its Fort Lauderdale base at 8:45 a. m. The tug Relief, from Key West, aided by the Unalga, got the Marques off the reef.

Steamer Sinks.

TSINGTAO, China, April 6.—(AP)—The small Japanese steamer Kyodo Maru No. 36, sank off Shantung peninsula today 10 minutes after striking a rock. It was feared that all aboard were lost, but the number of passengers and crew could not be learned immediately.

News Print From Georgia Pines Described to Members of House

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, April 6.—The work of Dr. Charles Holmes Herty, a native of Milledgeville, Ga., in the production of news print paper from Georgia pines was described to the house today by Representative Homer C. Parker, of Statesboro.

Mr. Parker exhibited the March 31 issue of the Soperton (Ga.) News, the first newspaper ever to be printed on paper printed from pine trees.

"The house was enjoying what is called in the press gallery 'a field day,' that is, a day set apart for general debate on any subject which members care to discuss."

"For the past two years or longer," Mr. Parker said, "Dr. Herty, a noted scientist who was born in Milledgeville, has been experimenting with the production of paper from Georgia pines."

"It is with great pride that I am able to state to the congress that Dr. Herty has been able to produce a very fine grade of paper from slash pine trees grown in the first Georgia congressional district, which I have the honor to represent in this body."

"I hold in my hand a copy of the Soperton News, a weekly newspaper published in Treutlen county, one of the counties of the first district of Georgia. This edition of the Soperton News is the first newspaper ever to be printed on paper made from pine trees. The paper itself was made by Mr. Herty in his Georgia paper laboratory at Savannah, Ga."

"I am of the opinion that the success achieved by Dr. Herty in this matter is worthy of note and that the people, not only of Georgia but of the entire United States, will be greatly interested in knowing of Dr. Herty's scientific accomplishments."

"The members of the newspaper fraternity throughout the country, in all probability, will be interested in knowing that the editor and publisher of the Soperton News is H. M. Flanders, one of my constituents. His interest in this matter and the splendid co-operation that he has given to Dr. Herty and others who have worked so diligently to bring about the results accomplished are worthy of note and I am sure Mr. Flanders should receive a portion of the commendation that all interested parties are entitled to in the premises."

"I might add in passing that James Fowler, of Soperton, is the world's largest slash pine grower. Mr. Fowler has planted, since 1926, a million five hundred thousand slash pine seedlings. These trees were planted on land where there were no seed trees for natural seeding and on lands on which he had formerly grown corn and cotton. He has 7,000 acres of forest lands with a good stand of slash pine timber and by 1935 he expects to begin using for turpentine purposes several hundred acres of his planted trees. By so doing he can increase his turpentine operations from his present 20 crops to 40 crops, with an unlimited amount of timber available for an indefinite period. I am told that slash pine trees are available for making news print after they reach the age of seven years."

When Mr. Parker had concluded his remarks, Representative Keller, of Illinois, suggested that some provision should be made to preserve for posterity the issue of the Soperton News made from pine paper.

Estranged Mate Finds Wife, Children Slain

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 6.—(AP)—A husband returning to his home with high hopes of a reconciliation today found the wife he left two days ago and their children slain and the man whom he blamed for the strangling unconscious in a gas-filled kitchen.

The wife, Mrs. Mattie Sue Bengert, 28, was strangled in her bed, and a son, Carl L. Bengert Jr., 8, was similarly slain and the body placed in an automobile in the yard. The other child, three-month-old Thelbert Allen, was dead in the kitchen oven, with all gas jets turned on.

The man, Henry B. Bedford, 43, principal of Turner public school here, lay across two chairs in the kitchen, unconscious from the gas fumes. He had not regained consciousness this evening, but attendants at a hospital where he was taken said he probably would recover.

Police said they found nothing immediately to contradict the theory of Bengert that his wife and children had been slain by Bedford, who then attempted to kill himself.

Macon's Trial Flight To Be Made Next Week

AKRON, Ohio, April 6.—(AP)—The U. S. S. Macon, sister ship of the ill-fated Akron, positively will make her maiden flight next week, officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation said today.

The ship, built for the navy, will be ready for her first flight Monday, but whether she will be flown depends on both the weather and the condition of the field. Goodyear officials said a definite date probably would be set after a study of weather forecasts tomorrow.

Captain A. H. Dresel, skipper of the Macon, said he was ready to order the Macon up early next week and that he had received no instructions from Washington changing these plans.

Four Children Perish In Rooming House Fire

MT. HOPE, W. Va., April 6.—(AP) Fire today burned to death four children as they slept in a mine town rooming house at Laurel Creek.

Neighbors said the blaze swept through the dwelling so quickly that before they could reach the house it was enveloped in flames.

Eight boarders and Williams Adkins, owner of the home, escaped injury. Adkins' wife, however, was burned seriously and three of their children and a grandchild were burned to death.

The children were Basil, 18; Jimmie, 12; and Francis, 7, Adkins' children, and Ruth Dunlaw, a grandchild.

WALTER E. ROTH, 72, ANTHROPOLOGIST, DIES
GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, April 6.—(AP)—Walter Edmund Roth, 72, internationally known anthropologist and curator of the British Guiana Museum, died today.

PLANNING THE EASTER DINNER

No matter what the occasion, it is the dinner which gives the home-maker the most concern. Church activities are so closely associated with Easter that a dinner should be planned which will take care of itself while mother as well as the other members of the family attend church services.

Considerable time will be saved Easter morning if the vegetables and the materials for the salad are prepared on Saturday. The dessert may also be prepared Saturday when the other work is being done.

The following dinner menu is one which will practically cook itself:

Spiced Baked Fixed Flavor Ham
Baked Potatoes
Buttered Baked Diced Carrots or Baked Cauliflower
Dinner Rolls
Cloverbloom Butter
Molded Vegetable Salad
Apricot Whip
Ice Box Cookie

Spiced Baked Fixed Flavor Ham. Twelve-pound ham, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 cup vinegar or fruit juice, 1/2 cup brown sugar.

Wash and dry the ham. Place in roaster, fat side up, cover bottom of pan with hot water, about one quart. Cover roaster and put in a slow oven, 300 degrees F., allowing about 21 minutes to the pound. When half done, remove the rind. Sprinkle the fat surface with mustard and paprika. Add the vinegar to the liquid in the pan and continue cooking. Baste frequently. About one hour before serving sprinkle fat surface with the brown sugar, dot with whole cloves and continue baking without basting. Will serve 16 to 18 portions. Pineapple juice, grape juice, cider or other fruit juice may be used in place of the vinegar.

If you do not wish to bake the whole fixed flavor ham, I would suggest that you have your retailer cut the ham for you into a butt, as many center slices as you desire and the shank. The butt may be baked following the recipe given for the whole ham.

The following are suggestive recipes:

Ham Butt Baked With Prunes. Four-pound fixed flavor ham butt, 2 1/2 cups brown sugar, 1 pound prunes, soaked, then cooked for 10 minutes; whole cloves. Place ham butt in baking dish, cover bottom of pan with hot water.

President and First Lady View Army Day Pageant

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—President and Mrs. Roosevelt joined today in the observance of the 16th anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the World War.

Army Day exercises in Washington were centered in a military pageant which marched from the capitol to the Washington monument where the 82 units participating were reviewed by the president.

A Few Basic Principles and Directions in Stewing Meats.

A stew is in reality a delicious repast, but to most people it is painfully wholesome, and little more can be said to its credit. That is because so few women know how to make it correctly.

The first principle in stew making is to sear the meat. This may be done by pouring boiling water over it, or by browning it in a hot frying pan. The purpose of this preliminary searing is to seal the juices in the meat fibers. The searing coagulates or hardens the soluble protein, which then retains the juices by locking them up in fibrous pockets.

The second principle in stew making is long, slow cooking, below the boiling point. Hard, fast cooking at boiling temperature ruins the meat, makes it stringy, tough and unappetizing.

The third principle is correct and varied seasoning by means of herbs, spices and methods of preparation.

Use Inexpensive Cuts of Meat. The shoulder or chuck, the shank, the short ribs and the round make good beef stew meats. Out of these cuts are made brown beef stew, Spanish stew, Hungarian beef stew and all of the various Swiss steak combinations, as well as chop suey.

The breast of lamb or the shoulder, as well as the neck, properly cut, make delicious lamb stews. The same cuts are used for veal stew.

From pork shoulder or trimmings is made the usual chop suey, the preferred type being the pork chop suey.

Veal Stew. Two pounds veal breast or shoulder, 8 medium-sized potatoes, sliced or cubed; 2 medium-sized onions, sliced whole; 2 cups chopped or sliced carrots, 4 tablespoons flour.

Cut the fat from the meat into cubes, place in the stewing kettle and heat it. Cut the meat in small portions and brown it in the hot fat, searing well on all sides, taking about 10 minutes for the process. Add enough hot water to just cover the meat. Cook at simmering temperature one-half hour.

Then add the carrots and onions, and enough hot water to cover them if it has previously cooked away. Cook until meat is almost tender, at simmering point, then half hour before fully done add the potatoes.

Make a paste of the flour and an equal amount of cold water, then thin to the pouring consistency and add to the stew. Cook 5 minutes to thicken, then season with salt and pepper, and at last minute before serving add 2 tablespoons finely-minced fresh parsley.

Brown Beef Stew. One onion chopped fine, 3 pounds of stewing beef, cut into serving portions; 1 onion, stuck with 3 whole cloves, 1 tablespoon each, butter or drippings and lemon juice, 1 teaspoon celery salt and minced parsley.

Fry the onion and meat in the butter until seared well, place in kettle with other ingredients, except parsley, barely cover with hot water, simmer until meat is tender. When done, thicken the liquid with a flour-and-water paste, cooking 5 minutes afterwards till thickened, then add the chopped parsley and serve. It takes about three hours to make this stew. Two tablespoons of flour is the usual allowance for thickening each pint or two cups of liquid.

Irish Stew. Three pounds breast or shoulder of lamb, cut in small pieces; 1/2 cup carrots, sliced; 1/2 cup sliced turnips, sliced; 1 onion, chopped or sliced; 4 cups potatoes, cut in thin slices and parboiled 5 minutes; 1/4 cup flour, diluted with cold water to a paste.

Cut the lamb into serving portions, place in stewing kettle and cover with boiling water. Cook slowly, simmering, about two hours, or until tender. At the end of the first hour, add the carrots and turnips and onion; 15 minutes before serving add the thinly-sliced potatoes. When done, thicken the gravy with the flour and water paste. Season with salt and pepper and serve with tiny dumplings if desired.

Hungarian Beef Stew. Two pounds of lean beef, cut in small pieces, and sprinkled with salt, pepper and vinegar. Let stand 2 hours. One onion chopped fine, 1 pinch caraway seed, sweet majoram and paprika.

Fry the onion and the meat in butter until seared. Add the seasonings, cook slowly till tender without any water added. Add 1 tablespoon flour rubbed to a paste with 1/2 cup cold stock or water, and when it thickens, add 1/2 cup thick sour cream and paprika to taste. Serve immediately.

Lamb Stew. Have the breast or shoulder of lamb cut in convenient pieces for stewing, brown them in hot bacon fat or drippings. Cover with boiling-hot stock or water, add a bunch of sweet herbs, a small clove of garlic, 1 chopped onion and 2 tablespoons of vinegar. Simmer until meat is tender. Drain off the liquid, add 1/2 cup stewed and strained tomatoes, pour over the meat and serve with a border of boiled rice. If preferred, the tomatoes and meat stock liquid may be thickened slightly.

Pork Chop Suey. One-half pound lean pork cut into strips, 1 cup chopped celery, 1 green pepper, chopped (optional) 2 large white onions, chopped coarsely, 1 cup meat stock (if none is available, make it with hot water and a beef bullion cube), 1 can assorted Chinese vegetables, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, 1/2-1 tablespoon of flour or 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 3 tablespoons cold water.

Put the meat, cut in strips, into a large frying pan with enough hot oil or bacon fat to cover the bottom of the pan, sear the meat, cover the pan and cook meat a few minutes. Then add the celery, peppers, onions, sugar and meat stock cover the pan and simmer gently until everything is tender, but not mushy. Add the Chinese vegetables, the soy sauce, and the thickening mixed with the cold water. Cook 5 minutes, then serve immediately with steamed rice. Serve soy sauce with the chop suey.

O. B. ANDREWS CO. JOINS RICE DEALERS

The O. B. Andrews Company, makers of corrugated and solid-fibre containers, of 299 Peachtree street, N. E., has recently been made a member of the Rice Dealers of the World Association.

This distinction, which means that the company may use the association's emblem of business leadership, has come to only a few concerns in the section, the announcement said. The company incidentally reported an increase in business last year over 1931 and for the first three months of 1933 also.

BANK IS OBSERVING 46TH ANNIVERSARY

The American Savings bank, at 140 Peachtree street, is now celebrating its 46th anniversary. It was chartered in 1886 and began business in 1887. J. G. St. Amant is president of the institution.

The only times the bank has closed during its 46 years of existence were

N. Y. Federal Reserve Cuts Rediscount Rate

NEW YORK, April 6.—(P)—The New York Federal Reserve bank today cut its rediscount rate to 3 per cent from 3 1/2 per cent. It had been at the latter level since March 2 when it was advanced from 2 1/2 per cent.

This reduction was interpreted in banking quarters as reflecting the relaxation of tension in the money market after the March banking crisis. Money rates generally have been coming down, after the flurry coincident to the banking holiday.

The rediscount rate, in effect, is the rate of interest at which member banks borrow from the federal reserve.

from the eighth ward, and was attended by virtually all members of general council and several department heads.

Milam led off with a plea for cooperation to meet the difficulties facing the city. He pleaded for concerted action to deal with the perplexing problems facing the municipality and recited how leaders in the past rallied to surmount problems and gave impetus to the phoenix-like rise of the south's Gate City.

Several of those present pledged their efforts at meeting the situation and there appeared a likelihood of an early passage of a finance sheet through a composition of differences among members.

STATES TO PICK FOREST WORKERS

Selection of First Contingent of 25,000 Workers Will Begin Today.

By ROY F. HENDRICKSON.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(P)—Criticism and protests from members of congress and others contributed to a decision tonight to place the task of selecting members of the conservation corps in the hands of state employment officials.

Robert Fechner, director of the Roosevelt conservation project, said the labor department will depend on the state agencies to recruit men after selection of the first contingent of 25,000 who will begin entering coniferous army camps tomorrow. Each state will be asked ultimately to supply a quota in proportion of its population.

The labor department will consult with the state official having the administration of unemployment relief in the respective states, and will arrange for the selection of men from the lists of applicants for work and for other assistance which already exist in every state of the union," Fechner said in a statement.

In selecting the first contingent numerous agencies, including city relief organizations, were authorized to contribute quotas. Four organizations in Baltimore were invited to enlist men. Many members of congress took exception to this system on grounds that state organizations were best fitted to decide which men should go.

Fechner said a large group of men selected from 17 cities will begin the trek to conditioning camps tomorrow. They will report at army recruiting stations and from there will be transferred to army camps for two weeks of conditioning. Then they will be ready for movement to the work camps in forests where President Roosevelt hopes to have 250,000 men at work by July 1.

Fechner announced the enrollment would continue with the selection of unmarried men, from 18 to 25 years old, who are willing to allot from $22 to $25 of their $30 monthly wage to dependent relatives.

In addition, he said, there also will be employed a "relatively small number" of unemployed men of "suitable age and experience, who are residents in the area to be developed in the program because these men are definitely useful in the project and peculiarly entitled to share its advantages."

These will be selected by the United States forest service and other groups in charge of the work camps. Fechner did not contest that registration of men would be necessary, but said that in case that system is used later an advance announcement will be made.

collembated pavements of the brewery streets felt the weight of fat barrels.

Sirens and whistles shrilled in St. Louis and floodlights bathed the breweries in a warm light as they threw open their doors. Police estimated 30,000 persons gathered around one plant; trucks were lined up for 21 blocks to carry away the first "suds."

Downtown Baltimore presented a Mardi Gras appearance. Traffic was paralyzed as the crowds poured into the streets. With horns, whistles and finally cheering, the first brew was delivered.

Washington's first brew was delivered in two cases at the White House doorstep of President Roosevelt. It was turned over to the White House press correspondents.

"NEW BEER'S EVE" COMES FOR OVER HALF OF NATION

NEW YORK, April 6.—(P)—It was "New Beer's Eve" tonight for more than half the population of the United States.

In 19 states, scattered across the map, and in the District of Columbia with a combined population of about 70,000,000—the moment after midnight was the hour when 3.2 per cent brew could legally be transported and sold. But local restrictions stopped the celebrations by postponing until morning the hour of delivery.

Long before the hands of clocks turned toward the position, revelers in cities from New York to the state of Washington began gathering for "beer balls" and "watch night parties."

On all sides, as the festivities began, the note of "no untoward celebrations," "no rowdyism" was sounded.

The admonition came from officials, from organizations and from the brewers themselves.

In every one of the 19 states it was a day and night of feverish activity for many.

Brewery forces were working at top speed, and from all sections came reports that they would be unable to supply the immediate demand.

Licensing clerks here and in many other cities found long serpentine lines at their windows when they came to work—and they grew in length throughout the day.

Trucks and freight cars were lined up in brewery yards, waiting the signal that would start them off with their liquid cargoes.

One brewery in St. Joseph, Mo., expected to move 100,000 cases across its loading docks within four hours.

But even in the 19 states, there were spots where the foaming brew flowed in a trickle, if at all.

In New York city, where 400,000 barrels of beer were ready to roll out of breweries, Jacob Ruppert, head of the United States Brewers Association, said none would move until 6 a. m.

But plans for New York parties went on, with the expectation that beer imported from other localities would take care of immediate wants.

California brewers joined in the 6 a. m. plan.

In Oregon the hour was set at 8 a. m.

Hotel men and club managers in Milwaukee, a city famous around the world for its brews, decided to keep the spigots closed until 7 a. m.

A Broadway dance hall offered free beer to all patrons.

A Broadway theater decided to serve near beer between the first and second acts, and 3.2 brew between the second and third acts—"just to see if you can tell the difference."

Newspapers showed a continued interest in beer advertisements with many of the breweries taking full page advertisements.

One New York paper contained 25 advertisements of midnight celebrations.

Beer Wins Test.

As the 19 states prepared to welcome back the new brew, word came from Frankfurt, Ky., that the court of appeals there had sustained an injunction requiring the Louisville & Nashville railroad to take an intrastate shipment of the new 3.2 per cent beer.

The court did not rule on whether brew of that content is legal, remanding that issue for determination on its merits later.

Philadelphia police had all day off cancelled and men working day shifts were ordered back to 10 p. m. to handle the anticipated "holiday traffic."

West Virginia police were ordered to "ignore beer being carried in privately-owned automobiles by private individuals for their own consumption," even though the sale in that state does not become legal until June 5.

From Clarksville, W. Va., came reports of a heavy demand for draft horses of the type used by brewers.

Glassboro, N. J., first town in the state to go dry under local option in 1918, was one of the first communities in south Jersey to decide today to license the new beer. Only three applications were received.

Hollywood, center of the movies, found itself outside the Los Angeles area in which beer can be sold.

Barred to Youth.

North Carolina and the District of Columbia had a ban on the sale of beer to those under 18 years old.

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, head of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Enforcement, added her personal plea to an organization resolution appealing to legislators and public "not to let return of beer prevent repeal of the 18th amendment."

Childs to Sell It.

A chain of restaurants extending into many cities (Childs) announced the sale of beer at 10 cents a glass in four restaurants on or near Broadway as an experiment.

Elsewhere in New York city, and throughout the 19 states, the price agreed on for the consumer ranged from 15 to 20 cents a glass.

FARM AID ISSUE IS BEFORE SENATE

Major Unit of Roosevelt 'Recovery' Program To Be Considered Today.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(P)—Farm relief, one of the basic points in President Roosevelt's recovery program, today became the senate's pending business, with debate to start tomorrow and leaders hopeful of passage within a week.

On the motion of Chairman Smith, democrat, South Carolina, of the agriculture committee, the broad price-lifting and mortgage help bill, a part of which already has passed the house, was brought formally up for consideration and will remain before the senate until final action is taken.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, hopes for the final ballot by Wednesday.

Approval is considered certain by friends and foe alike, and opponents conceded privately they could not muster enough votes to defeat it, although several will seek approval of amendments.

Among these were two substitute proposals of Frazier, republican, North Dakota, and Carey, republican, Wyoming.

Frazier will offer as a substitute for the $2,000,000,000 bond issue mortgage relief plan his proposal for federal refinancing farm debts at 1 1/2 per cent interest, through currency expansion.

The Hyde-Hoover land leasing proposal advanced in the dying hours of the last congress will be proposed as a substitute by Carey for sections of the bill giving Secretary Wallace power to attempt to lift farm prices to the 1909-1914 level through the domestic allotment plan and a cotton pool, supplemented by a processing tax and marketing agreements.

Other senators plan attempt to revise other sections of the bill, but it is expected to go back to the house about as it came from the agriculture committee.

The house has approved the price-lifting proposal, but has not passed on senate changes in that or on the mortgage refinancing plan, which now is in the hands of the house agriculture committee.

Republicans will discuss their party's course toward the bill in the senate at a conference tomorrow. They decided today to ask that consideration be delayed until tomorrow or Monday, but did not make that plea because Smith was unable to get it up until too late for debate to open today.

No opposition was expressed by them to Smith's formal motion that the bill be made the pending business, which the senate did with a shout of acclamation.

Considerable opposition to some phases of the bill was voiced by republicans in today's conference, but McNary and others conceded the bill would be passed about as it came from committee.

beer were to be set up at 6 a. m.—"free as long as it lasts."

In St. Louis sirens atop breweries announced the 12:01 hour, and some dealers ordered trucks with ice to the breweries, so the beer could be cooled for consumption while in transportation.

In New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, in the absence of a permanent control plan, licenses were issued under temporary restrictions.

And while attention was concentrated on the foamy malt beverage, wine-growers in upper New York state set to work de-alcoholizing thousands of gallons of age-mellowed wines so they would come within the 3.2 ruling.

Oil Well Shutdown Observed in Texas

KILGORE, Texas, April 6.—(P)—The Texas railroad commission's order closing the 10,000 wells in the east Texas oil field at 7 a. m. today for a five-day period was being obeyed generally, according to reports to the commission's field headquarters here.

Sixty-two operators hold injunctions against the state regulatory body, however, and officials believed that they would not shut down their producers.

No order has been issued for a potential test of each well, as suggested by many leaders of the oil industry, to aid the commission in promulgating a new proration regulation.

ROOSEVELT DELAYS SHOALS CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(P)—President Roosevelt late today deferred his conference with congressional leaders on preparation of the Muscle Shoals bill until tomorrow because some of the senate members could not attend.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, hopes for the final ballot by Wednesday.

Approval is considered certain by friends and foe alike, and opponents conceded privately they could not muster enough votes to defeat it, although several will seek approval of amendments.

Among these were two substitute proposals of Frazier, republican, North Dakota, and Carey, republican, Wyoming.

Daladier Is Upheld In Peace Program

PARIS, April 6.—(P)—The chamber of deputies gave Premier Daladier's government a smashing vote of confidence, 430 to 107, today, informing his rejection of a four-power directorate in Europe as containing possibilities for war.

The premier insists that any collaboration by the powers must be within the framework of the League of Nations.

Sixty-two operators hold injunctions against the state regulatory body, however, and officials believed that they would not shut down their producers.

No order has been issued for a potential test of each well, as suggested by many leaders of the oil industry, to aid the commission in promulgating a new proration regulation.

"But, listen, Sonny, the operator says your Daddy doesn't have a telephone any more. We'll have to go over to headquarters and wait for your Mamma to come for you."

"Gee, Mister, I bet my Mamma'll be worried about me 'til she finds out where I am!"

Of course, the Browns didn't know that Sonny was going to get lost when they had the "phone" taken out. They were trying to economize, just as most everyone else is. But when a lonesome Sonny was once more restored to a frantic Mrs. Brown, the Brown family decided that there were better ways to save than by dispensing with the telephone.

KEY ASKS REPORT ON STEINER ACTION

Hospital Groups Meet in Mayor's Office Today
To Discuss Differences.

Amicable adjustment of differences between Grady hospital and Albert Steiner trustees or a bitter court battle hinges on the result of a conference at 10 o'clock this morning in the office of Mayor James L. Key, it was indicated Thursday.

Joseph H. Hirsch and Milton Liebman, trustees of the Steiner cancer ward, and the mayor conferred Thursday, and when trustees asked for a construction of the order passed at a meeting of the Grady board Wednesday, Key asked John B. Franklin, superintendent of Grady, to file a written report with him.

If the report demands that the Grady trustees have sole right to nominate the Steiner staff, a privilege reposing in the Steiner trustees under a contract with the city government, it is anticipated that the Steiner trustees will resist the order. Nominations are now subject to confirmation by Grady trustees.

If, on the other hand, the order contemplates only that Grady trustees shall supervise admissions and hire and fire attaches other than staff members, it is anticipated that Steiner trustees will agree, contending that the Grady trustees now have that right.

Franklin could not be reached for his construction of the order issued by the Grady board Wednesday to the superintendent, the superintendent of nurses and the medical director of Grady to proceed at once to take over Steiner. Key did not order the trio to exercise the authority given them by the Grady board pending a construction of the import of the resolutions.

Liebman, Hirsch and the mayor will attend the meeting to be held this morning, and it was reported that members of the Grady board may be asked to attend if it is indicated that the differences between the two boards of trustees can be composed. That, however, was regarded as more or less conjecture.

The row over conduct of the Steiner clinic, for the past several years a matter of controversy, was revived last week.

Tariff Wall for Gas To Surround Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan., April 6.—(AP)—A "tariff wall" is going up around Kansas, May 1. There will be 34 ports of entry and exit through which truck carriers of gasoline and other motor fuels will be required to enter and leave the state. It will be illegal to cross the Kansas border elsewhere. The new regulations are designed to prevent bootlegging of motor fuels and the consequent evasion of the state tax of three cents a gallon on gasoline.

MRS. C. R. FRAZIER PLEADS INSANITY

Woman Carried From Witness Stand in State of Near Collapse.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 6.—

(AP)—In tones scarcely audible, Mrs. C. R. Frazier, wife of a former United States narcotic chief here, today told a federal court jury trying her for murder that she deliberately shot and killed Miss Manona Murrell, her husband's secretary and alleged sweetheart, during a state of temporary insanity to prevent the breaking up of her home.

Having related at length a love affair that grew between her husband and his 26-year-old secretary, culminating in alleged intimacies between them and the fatal shooting of the blond divorcee, Mrs. Frazier completed a day and a half of testimony and was carried from the witness stand in a state of near collapse.

Several times during her testimony the frail little 80-pound mother of five children became exhausted and was unable to continue her story until after a rest. Twice she collapsed and had to be carried from the stand to receive first-aid treatment.

The 42-year-old woman declared that after "putting up with" the alleged intimate relations between her husband and his secretary for three years, her health and mind became affected by worry and she was "driven by an impelling force to kill that girl to protect my home."

On the morning of the shooting last December 16, Mrs. Frazier said she received a letter from her husband, who then was living apart from her, saying he had taken the three younger sons away and that she would not see them again unless she consented to a divorce.

"When I read the letter," Mrs. Frazier said, "my world was gone. I was absolutely crushed. If there had been a regiment out there I would have killed that girl anyway. Nothing could have stopped me. The defendant said Miss Murrell had told her of the alleged intimacies with her husband and that Frazier had demanded a divorce so that he might marry the girl. She said that if she had not killed Miss Murrell, her oldest son, Raymond Frazier, would have done it.

Engineers Swap Tales Of Railroads' History

Railroad men's talk drifted around the corridors and lobbies of the Ansley hotel Thursday as delegates to the southeastern union meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers held their second day's round of business sessions and prepared for a big sight-seeing trip around Atlanta this afternoon.

Delegates to the engineers' meeting and to a convention of ladies' auxiliaries were entertained Thursday night at the Ansley roof garden by the railway employee clubs of Atlanta. There were tales of Casey Jones, "Old 97," the Nancy Hanks and other human and mechanical heroes and heroines of railroad history. They were told by such men as J. H. Wilson, of the Southern States Special; Whistling Dick Williams, of the Ponce de Leon; W. S. Sprague, of R. W. McCall of the old Southland; "Hustler" O'Dell and J. C. Lane, of the Kansas City Special; Eugene Conlon, of the Carroll Special; and Dan O'Neill, of the Crescent Limited. Business sessions of the convention are executive.

Senate Group to Study River Peonage Charges

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Vice President Garner today appointed a committee of three senators, headed by Wagner, democrat, New York, to investigate labor conditions in flood control camps in the Mississippi valley.

Wagner sponsored the resolution for the inquiry, which resulted from charges of negro associations and American Federation of Labor that workmen there toiled virtually in a state of peonage.

The flood control construction work for the government is carried on in the main by private contractors, at whom the charges are aimed. With Wagner, the committee includes Stephens, democrat, Mississippi, and Nye, republican, North Dakota.

SOLONS URGE BAN ON FOREIGN BONDS

Committee Would Bar Securities of Defaulting Debtor Nations.

By DON J. KIRKLEY.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—A federal ban on loans to governments in default to America or its citizens was recommended to the senate today by its judiciary committee in a formal report on the Johnson bill which the administration's stringent securities bill forged ahead in congressional committee.

Passage of the Johnson bill, sponsored by the California republican-independent, which would prohibit sale in this country of obligations of defaulting governments, was urged by the judiciary committee as "a measure of simple justice for the protection of the American investor and the American people generally."

Before the senate banking committee, Robert E. Healy, counsel for the federal trade commission, cited commission disclosures in its public utilities investigation and advocated the administration bill to regulate domestic stock and bond issues.

The house interstate commerce committee considered the administration bill in executive session, with the hope it could be reported to the floor next week. The senate committee continues its hearings tomorrow.

Johnson's bill, an aftermath of the senate finance committee investigation of the flotation of foreign issues in the United States, was considered by the judiciary committee as justified by that inquiry and necessary "on behalf of the American people."

In the committee report, chairman Ashurst said that the investigation was "so recent and its results so astonishing that it is apparent nothing more need be done in demonstrating the necessity for legislation upon the subject."

"Billions of dollars of securities of certain foreign countries were offered for sale to the American people with little thought of final payment," the report said, "and in some instances, with sufficient knowledge on the part of the American intermediary and the borrower also that it would be well nigh impossible for these securities ultimately to be paid."

"Moreover, much that has occurred since that investigation, in the matter of obligations due to the United States government from certain foreign governments emphasizes not only the justice of the measure but its necessity."

"It would be unjust to permit the further sale of securities of a defaulting government, the sale of whose securities heretofore in this country have brought distressing loss upon our people, or the offering for sale of the bonds and obligations of a foreign country able to pay its obligations to our own government but repudiating its solemn agreements."

Ashurst said the legislation was designed "to curb the rapacity of those engaged in the sale of foreign obligations, and as an admonition to governments able to pay but which nevertheless repudiate their written engagements."

Healy suggested revisions in the administration securities bill, which puts the power largely in the hands of the trade commission.

His recommendations were based on evidence during the utility inquiry, in which he was a central figure, and which he said showed evasion of state stock laws. He reviewed evidence of stock, over-capitalization, alleged fraudulent practices of subsidiary holding companies and other utility corporation tactics.

Brief Drop in Mercury Forecast Here Today

Fair weather this morning will be accompanied by a drop to 38 degrees, but an ever-approaching summer will tighten its grip during the day with a gradual rise to at least 60 degrees during the afternoon, according to George W. Mindling, United States meteorologist.

Although the temperature probably will be within 6 degrees of the freezing point, no damage to flowers or shrubbery is expected, the weatherman said. Light frost was reported Thursday as far south as Dallas, Texas, and 20-degree temperatures were reported in the plains states. Snow was recorded at Des Moines.

Temperatures here Thursday ranged from 62 to 74 degrees, and the day was dampened by frequent showers. The rains covered a large area, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, and on the Atlantic coast from north Florida to Delaware, the weatherman said. More than half an inch of rain was reported here within 24 hours.

EMORY EDITORIAL WRITING CONTEST WINNERS NAMED

Winners of the editorial writing contests conducted by the Emory University Institute of Citizenship and the Georgia Press Institute at their joint meeting on the Emory campus last February were announced Thursday.

All Georgia editors and journalism students were invited to submit an editorial on some topic suggested at the institutes' joint program on "Public Opinion and the Press," and the following were judged the best:

For Daily Newspapers—The Tifton Daily Gazette, published at Tifton, by the Herring brothers.

For Weekly Papers—The Charlton County Herald, published at Folkston; T. W. Wrench, editor.

For Students of Journalism—Robert Gaines, of Atlanta, a senior in the department of journalism at Emory University.

The committee of judges was headed ed by George M. Sparks, professor of journalism at Georgia Tech. The prizes were framed copies of "An Editor Must Have a Purpose," an editorial written by Joel Chandler Harris and published in 1878 in Henry Grady's Atlanta Sunday Gazette.

The original clipping of the editorial is in the Harris memorial room of the Emory University library. The editorial also was reprinted as the frontispiece to the report of the institutes' proceedings, copies of which have been mailed to all members of the Georgia Press Association.

ATLANTA IS VICTIM OF ACCIDENT SHOT

Mack Loudermilk, 20, of a Sylvan road address, was at Grady hospital late Thursday with a bullet wound from a shot which entered his right arm and penetrated his chest. His condition was undetermined pending an X-ray.

Loudermilk, brought to the hospital by Mrs. E. S. Oliver, who also lives on Sylvan road, said that he had been in the woods to kill a cat when the pistol accidentally discharged. Mrs. Oliver said she picked the man up on Cleveland road near Sylvan and hurried him to the hospital.

HALL FUND QUOTA GIVEN BY UPSON

Fifth Georgia County Goes "Over Top" in $100,000 Campaign.

With the fifth county "over the top," the campaign to raise $100,000 for erection of Georgia Hall at Warm Springs moved toward the end of the second week Thursday when announcement was made that more than $2,000 in new subscriptions had been received from Atlanta and Fulton county residents.

Upson county was the fifth to reach its quota and Albert T. Matthes, the chairman, turned in $300, representing the county's assessment. Group county, home of Cason J. Calloway, sent in $4,200 Thursday, more than twice its quota of $1,800.

The Atlanta committee members were guests of their chairman, Cator Woolford, at a luncheon at the Capital City Club Thursday. More than $2,000 in new donations were announced, a sum which Mr. Woolford said represented hundreds of small gifts. He also announced a gift of $100 by the Uncle Remus Memorial Association.

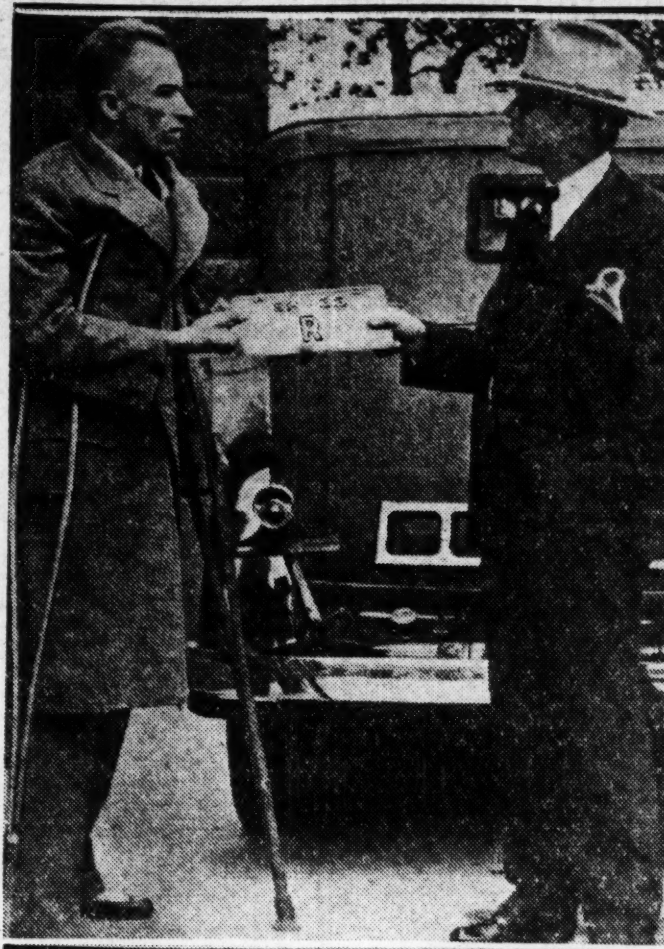

Mr. Calloway, present at the luncheon, said activities in the state were moving briskly and predicted several more counties would reach their quota by the end of this week.

"Georgians are intensely interested," he said, "in honoring President Roosevelt and establishing a new dormitory for the Foundation he so dearly loves. Every walk of life is included in the donors."

Children of the Richland High school subscribed 100 per cent, according to advices from there Thursday.

Radio talks in behalf of the campaign continued from two Atlanta stations Thursday night. Mrs. W. P. Dunn made an appeal over WGST and Mrs. Nellie Nix Edwards, head of the women's division of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke over WSB. Other talks by well-known persons will be given by radio tonight.

RAILS MUST OBSERVE RATE DIFFERENTIALS

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today issued an order requiring that railroads maintain differentials on barge-rail and rail-barge-rail rates regardless of changes in the level of all rail rates.

The order, which is the eighth supplemental report of the commission on its study of through routes and joint rates between the Inland Waterways Corporation and other common carriers, held that the Denison act requires minimum differentials between all rail rates and joint rates in connection with water service to apply until changed in the manner authorized in the act.

ACID STOMACH EASY NOW TO CORRECT

Just Do One Thing—That's All

According to many authorities, some 80% of the people of today have acid stomach. This because so many foods, comprising the modern diet, are acid forming foods.

It usually makes itself felt in sour stomach, indigestion, headaches, nausea, "gas," "biliousness," and most frequently in stomach pains that come about thirty minutes after eating. So you can easily tell if you have it.

Now Quickly and Easily Corrected

If you do have acid stomach, don't worry about it. You can correct it in a very simple manner. Just do this. It will alkalize your acid soaked stomach almost immediately. You will feel like another person. TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia with a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

What This Does

That's all you do. But you do it regularly, EVERY DAY, so long as you have any symptoms of distress. This acts to neutralize the stomach acids that foster your "upset" stomach, that invite headaches and that feeling of lassitude and lost energy.

Try it. Results will amaze you. Your head will be clear. You'll forget you have a stomach.

BUT—be careful that you get REAL milk of magnesia when you buy; genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia. See that the name "Phillips" is stamped clearly on the label.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM.

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Neutralizes Food and Tobacco Acids a few minutes after taking.

FLORIDA HOUSE GIVEN BEER BILL

Measure Would Place Tax of $2.50 Per Barrel on Beverage.

By the Associated Press.
The Florida house of representatives yesterday received a bill to legalize 3.2 per cent beer in the state.

The bill, establishing a $2.50 a barrel tax on barrels of not more than 31-gallon content and taxing dispensers, was referred to the finance and taxation committee, which did not act on it.

The house beer bill called for immediate sale of the beverage as soon as the measure may become law. Governor Dave Sholtz, in his biennial message to the legislature Tuesday, recommended such action.

The senate, passing one of the 46 bills introduced yesterday, voted to extend the beer bill for tax payments in the state from April 1 to June 1.

Both the senate and house received a mass of bills, the house 82 and the senate 46, in addition to the 49 introduced Wednesday.

Senate bills called for a state bond debt refunding commission; elimination of all ad valorem taxes for state purposes; abolishment of state occupational licenses; tax exemption for cities, counties and homesteads; and elimination of state department of banking and insurance; and for repeal of laws creating a state board of barber examiners and the board of optometry examiners.

The administration-sponsored biennial appropriation bill, calling for annual expenditure of $6,845,845 for operation of the state government, was introduced in the house. It proposed from 25 to 40 per cent reduction in operating costs and carried a total of $2,102,914.50 in savings, more than 8 times as many as the 1931 legislature.

These mysterious Chinese characters that appear on laundry checks would be banned in Rhode Island if the legislature passes Representative James Berarducci's bill. Under this measure it would be compulsory to print all laundry checks in English.

5 Win Scholarships For Rural Physicians

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—(AP) The Tulane University medical school today awarded scholarships to five Mississippians through the Commonwealth Fund of New York for Rural Health Promotion.

The scholarships, announced by Dean C. C. Bass, were awarded to Martin Luther Flynn Jr., of Newton, Miss.; Charles Roderick Jenkins, Hattiesburg; Thomas Harrison Lambert, Charleston; Howard Alexander Nelson, Tunica; and Robert Peyton Vincent Jr., Jackson.

The scholarships, awarded annually, provide the youths with $1,200 a session in return for which they agree to practice in the rural sections of their state for at least three years after graduation. The scholarships are effective at the opening of the next session at the university.

Both the senate and house received a mass of bills, the house 82 and the senate 46, in addition to the 49 introduced Wednesday.

Senate bills called for a state bond debt refunding commission; elimination of all ad valorem taxes for state purposes; abolishment of state occupational licenses; tax exemption for cities, counties and homesteads; and elimination of state department of banking and insurance; and for repeal of laws creating a state board of barber examiners and the board of optometry examiners.

The administration-sponsored biennial appropriation bill, calling for annual expenditure of $6,845,845 for operation of the state government, was introduced in the house. It proposed from 25 to 40 per cent reduction in operating costs and carried a total of $2,102,914.50 in savings, more than 8 times as many as the 1931 legislature.

These mysterious Chinese characters that appear on laundry checks would be banned in Rhode Island if the legislature passes Representative James Berarducci's bill. Under this measure it would be compulsory to print all laundry checks in English.

New Propellor 'Umbrella' Protects Planes in Flight From Ice Peril

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE.
ITHACA, N. Y., April 6.—(AP)—An ice umbrella for propellers, a device said to overcome the last remaining ice peril for airplanes, was announced at Cornell University.

This umbrella shields the hub of the propeller. It is small, about the diameter of the hub. Its shape that of a mushroom. It projects slightly in front of the propeller.

In flight, ice that ordinarily gathers on the whirling hub does not form there at all, but all collects on the umbrella. The danger is not from the ice on or directly in front of the hub, but the danger is that because of this hub ice spreads both directions outward along the whirling blades.

By preventing the formation on the hub, the announcement states, the ice on the blades is eliminated completely. Tonight's announcement is the final report on new methods of ice protection for aircraft undertaken at Cornell in 1928 by Dr. William Scott and Dr. W. C. Geer, in the physics department, with assistance of the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics.

The first development was an "overshoe" to keep ice off the leading edges of wings, the major ice peril. These overshoes now have been under test for three winters, and in tonight's report Dr. Geer said that 10 mail planes used them in the past winter.

The overshoes are pneumatic coverings, that automatically inflate and deflate, and they are also impregnated so that ice broken by the pulsing may slip off more readily.

Dr. Geer said that the device for keeping ice off the propellers has also been used in mail plane flight and "has been quite successful."

McDONALD TO SAIL FOR U. S. APRIL 15

Roosevelt, Receiving British Acceptance, Invites Other Nations to Meet.

By F. G. VOSBURGH.
WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—A fateful gathering of European statesmen at Washington in coming days was in the making tonight as President Roosevelt called for "realistic action" to help the world, and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, the first to come, sent word he would sail for New York a week from Saturday.

Broad plans on the part of the president aimed at solving the world's greatest ills by personal conversations with the chiefs of the leading nations took on definite shape with information from a high official that MacDonald, of Great Britain, had been approached on the matter of sending special representatives here and that a formal invitation will be sent to Paris soon.

From the same authoritative source came disclosures that German and Italian spokesmen also will be welcomed here and that the Roosevelt administration will be glad to receive the representatives of any government which sincerely desires to discuss means of starting the world on the upward economic road.

President Roosevelt has told Ambassador Paul Claudel he would be glad to receive any French official figure who might find it possible to come over to join in the preparations for the world economic conference in London this summer, and to discuss finding a way out of the present armament impasse.

In this connection the names of Premier Daladier and former Premier Herriot have been mentioned unofficially.

As to Italy and Germany, no direct invitation has been extended yet, but Norman H. Davis, Mr. Roosevelt's special ambassador abroad, left Paris tonight for Berlin, and Secretary Cordell Hull conferred today with Ambassador Augusto Russo, of Italy.

Another possibility is a visit by Prime Minister Bennett, of Canada, President Roosevelt having expressed to the Canadian minister some time ago the hope that the chief of his government could visit Washington.

Almost as fast as a message could be relayed through the embassy here, and called across the Atlantic, MacDonald today accepted the president's invitation, although indicating that he could be in this country but five or six days.

Reason for Conference.
The purpose of the visit as stated by the president in his invitation was the "need for making further progress toward practical disarmament" and the fact that preparations for the world economic conference "are entering a more intensive stage."

No mention was made in either the invitation or reply of the controversial subject of war debts which the British as well as other nations are seeking to revise. Regarding economics and disarmament, the president in his cablegram to MacDonald expressed the view that "the world situation calls for realistic action," and that "the people themselves in every nation ask it."

MacDonald, in accepting, described himself as "most touched," and said he would be very happy to stay with the Roosevelt family at the White House as the president had requested.

MacDonald will come on the Berengaria, a five-day boat sailing April 15, and plans to return on the same ship April 26.

Envoys Visit Hull.
At the state department, a day of unusual diplomatic activity bore out the president's statement that preparations for the economic conference are becoming more intensive.

Representatives of 13 nations, nine of them countries which owe the United States war debts, called on the secretary or undersecretary of state with indications that economic matters were discussed.

In the prospective visits of foreign officials to Washington President Roosevelt does not propose to engage in round-table discussions but rather to deal with the representatives of each nation separately.

How far war debts will enter into the discussion has not been indicated definitely, although the administration has chosen to emphasize the general problem of reviving world trade by removing obstructions and to leave the war debts as a comparatively minor consideration.

MACDONALD WILL SEEK TO SPEED ECONOMIC MEET
LONDON, April 6.—(AP)—Speeding up of the world economic conference will be the objective of Prime Minister MacDonald's Easter visit to Washington, he indicated today in the house of commons.

An announcement of his plans is expected tomorrow after a formal invitation has been received from President Roosevelt.

High hopes are being built on this visit by some sections of the press, but other newspapers warn that all that can be expected is the infusing of new life into the war debts negotiations and smoothing the way for the world economic conference.

HERIOT MAY DISCUSS ISSUES IN WASHINGTON
PARIS, April 6.—(AP)—Further "exploratory conferences," similar to those held this week with French officials, will be held in Berlin over the weekend by Norman H. Davis, special United States ambassador, who leaves for the German capital tomorrow.

Plans for a preliminary discussion in Washington preceding the world economic conference to be held in London and disarmament are expected to be the questions discussed by Mr. Davis and German officials.

Andre De La Boulaye, newly appointed ambassador to the United States, a government spokesman said today, will represent France in conversations to be held in Washington with Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald.

Mississippi Merchant Dies of Rare Disease

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 6.—(AP) Harry Kravetz, 37, a merchant of Yazoo City, Miss., died at a hospital here early today of a rare disease known to the medical profession as echinococcus of the liver.

Physicians expressed belief Kravetz may have contracted the disease while on a recent trip to Europe. His skin took on a yellowish tinge before death. Physicians said horses and dogs are usually the source of the infection.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS, ROOSEVELT CONFER

New Ambassador to Mexico Discusses Plans of Bettering Relations.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Lunching at the White House on his last day in Washington before leaving for his new post, Josephus Daniels, new ambassador to Mexico, today discussed with President Roosevelt hopes and plans for bettering the prevailing situation.

Donald, of Great Britain, and President Roosevelt.

Simultaneously, the suggestion arose in chamber of deputies quarters that the former Premier Herriot, an advocate of the payment of defaulted war debts interest to America, might go to Washington for the economic talks should France decide to send a special representative.

BIG ADVERTISING DRIVE WILL SELL ETHYL GAS

General Motors and Standard Plan Greatest Newspaper Campaign.

NEW YORK, April 6.—A sales drive embracing the "biggest newspaper campaign ever put behind any single brand of gasoline" was announced today by the Ethyl Gasoline Corporation, owned jointly by the General Motors Corporation and the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

The campaign is termed the biggest sales drive ever launched by the corporation. In its announcement the company says that its officials believe that the "way to get business is to go after it through advertising."

"Many companies have curtailed their advertising expenditure in view of the conditions with which business is faced," says the announcement. "The Ethyl Gasoline Corporation will invest almost twice as much money in advertising this year as it has in the past, including both our own program and our co-operative arrangements with the refiners, who market our products. We are going forward on this scale despite the public's limited purchasing power, greater competition and improved non-premium fuel."

The newspaper campaign will be conducted in co-operation with the company's 104 refining licensees, which include virtually all the principal marketing organizations in the United States and Canada, the company states.

"Under this arrangement we are assuring the frequent appearance of ethyl advertising in newspapers all over the country. This means that the biggest newspaper campaign ever put behind any single brand of gasoline will be concentrated on ethyl in 1933. It means that 1933 offers the greatest opportunity in the history of the petroleum industry to sell ethyl gasoline."

CUBAN IMPROVEMENTS
PROMISED BY MACHADO

President of Island Republic Praises Measures Passed by Congress.

HAVANA, April 6.—(AP)—President Machado's semi-annual message to congress, made public today, promised the island better things economically.

The government departed from usual proceedings in making the message public before it was read to the senate. A new congress convened Monday, but the upper chamber in three working days has not managed to obtain a quorum.

Declaring the administration's intention to "bring about improvement in our economic and fiscal situation" through co-ordinated laws, the executive praised the measures passed by the congress last week and promised to submit complimentary legislation shortly.

The senate and house last week voted, and the executive signed, legislation declaring a two years' moratorium on mortgage foreclosures and authorizing the president to suspend payments on the national debt, internal and external, if he deemed that advisable.

A bill to empower him to revise tariffs has passed the senate and is pending in the house.

In Effort To Bring Pay for Teachers

By HOMER McCOY.
CHICAGO, April 6.—(AP)—To the accompaniment of "spring fever hokey" charges, the student strike movement, to force payment of teachers from an empty treasury, alternately ebbed and gained strength in Chicago high schools today.

School authorities estimated about 12,000 students were absent today. Many recruits were added to the original insurgent groups.

School teachers were inclined to doubt whether non-payment of instructors was the underlying cause for the walkout. This being spring, several pointed out, with the outdoors

Motor Vehicle Act
Faces Test in Court

The 1931 motor vehicle act pertaining to automobiles carrying passengers into and out of the state on a "share expense" plan will be tested in the state supreme court, John I. Kelley, Atlanta attorney, said Thursday after one of his clients, Tilden Penton, of New York, had been given a three-month suspended sentence for carrying passengers into Georgia without a license. The sentence and suspension was decreed by Judge Jesse M. Wood in the criminal court of Atlanta.

A. C. Sparks, Atlanta travel agent, obtained from Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of the Fulton superior court, a temporary injunction restraining the public service commission and the municipal court of Atlanta from prosecuting a similar case against him. Judge Moore will have a hearing on a permanent injunction on April 15.

Shrinks Tissues to Clear Up Gummy Mucous

When dry gummy sinus mucous becomes obstructed in nasal passages, it quickly sours and ferments, backing up into the temples to flood the system with poisons to cause severe head pains. Penetro Nose and Throat Drops, containing ephedrine, gently and harmlessly shrinks swollen nasal membranes, providing rapid drainage and almost instant relief. Penetro Nose and Throat Drops being highly antizymic, aids in preventing fermentation of sinus mucous which creates foul breath. Other medicinal properties vaporize to flow throughout the sinus area, thus keeping away further obstruction. Your druggist has the two generous sizes: 25c and 50c, with nasal bulb applicator.

CHICAGO TEACHERS ASK
INTERVIEW WITH ICKES

R. F. C. Loan Expected To Enable City To Meet Pay Rolls.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Apparently spurred on by the strike of 15,000 Chicago school pupils, a delegation representing that city's long unpaid teachers today sought an interview with Secretary Ickes for next Wednesday.

They originally sought to see President Roosevelt, but he, through Senator Lewis, democrat, Illinois, asked them to postpone their trip to Washington.

Meanwhile, M. S. Seymczak, Chicago's comptroller, and Robert Carr, a member of the school board, who spent almost a fortnight in the capital attempting to devise some means of borrowing $22,000,000 from the Reconstruction Corporation for the teachers, were on their way back home.

It was learned from reliable sources that they completed arrangements whereby they may be able to procure at least a portion of it from the R. F. C. through the organization in Chicago of a trust company. This institution would purchase school board tax warrants, borrow on them from the R. F. C. and turn the money back to the school board.

Late last night the bodies of two men were washed ashore. Neither was immediately identified.

$3.50 Debt Paid by Film Comedian Given to Hall Fund by Georgian

A check from Oliver Hardy, famous screen comedian of the well-known team, "Laurel and Hardy," is among the contributions that will make possible the building of "Georgia Hall" at Warm Springs, for which funds are now being raised.

The gift did not come directly from Hardy, but from Ben Hawkins, of West Point, Ga., who received the check recently from the comedian in payment of a 27-year-old debt incurred while the two were in prep school.

Back in 1906, Ben Hawkins and Oliver Hardy left Young Harris College and came to Atlanta, where Hardy touched the Georgia Hall fund, promising to return it to the next day. Twenty-seven years elapsed, however, and Hawkins made a wager recently that he wrote his old chum and recalled the loan that he would get his money.

Hawkins wrote to Hardy in Beverly Hills, Cal., reminding him of the loan and enclosed a photograph of the group of friends at Young Harris, which included Hardy and himself.

Hardy immediately sent his personal check for $3.50, saying he did not recall the loan, but that seeing the old faces in the photograph again was worth the $3.50, which he was enclosing.

Upon receipt of the check, Hawkins indorsed it over to the Georgia Hall campaign as his contribution.

PREPARATIONS ASKED FOR MISSISSIPPI FLOODS
JACKSON, Miss., April 6.—(P)—Governor Sennet Connor today took official cognizance of flood menace in the state as he instructed R. O. Tann, manager of the state penitentiary, to be in readiness to use convicts in battling swollen rivers of the delta.

Tann notified the executive during the day that he had been requested to send 300 convicts to Belzoni. The governor asked him to use his own discretion and keep him advised on the situation.

CONSERVATORS NAMED FOR CLEVELAND BANKS
WASHINGTON, April 6.—(P)—Jesse H. Jones, Reconstruction Corporation director, tonight announced that Ira Fulton, Ohio superintendent of banks, had appointed Sidney B. Congdon conservator for the Guardian Trust company of Cleveland, and Oscar L. Cox conservator for the Union Trust Company, of the same city.

Jones said the appointments had been made on the recommendation of Reconstruction Corporation officials and with the approval of Secretary Woodin.

WIDOW GIVEN $15,000 IN HUSBAND'S DEATH
PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—(P)—Mrs. Ida P. Berg, of Baltimore, was awarded $15,000 damages by a jury today for the death of her husband, Ira L. Berg. The verdict was against the Modern Laundry, Inc., of Philadelphia.

Berg, a boiler inspector, was working at the laundry in August, 1931, when he was crushed by a truck, it was testified.

In addition, the statement revealed that the monetary gold stocks of the country had increased $11,000,000 during the week to a total of $2,383,000,000, or roughly 37 per cent of the world's estimated total of $11,000,000,000. The level, however, was $113,000,000 less than for the same week of last year.

A further restoration of normal banking activities, and dehoarding, brought money in circulation down $82,000,000 during the week to a total of $6,261,000,000, which is $1,277,000,000 less than the peak reached during the banking crisis early in March.

Attorney-General Cummings said no attempt has yet been made to determine what action the justice department might take after May 1, the end of the period fixed by President Roosevelt for turning in gold and gold certificates.

"I won't assume people will not obey the law," Cummings said. "What we decide to do after May 1 will depend on conditions at that time."

CURRENCY IN U. S. IS AMPLY BACKED

Reserve Officials Declare Notes Bulwarmed by 73 Per Cent Gold Base.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(P)—A circulating currency that is bulwarmed by a 73 per cent gold base is the answer Uncle Sam can give to any charges that this country has embarked on a program of issuing unsound money.

This fact is embodied in statistics of the federal reserve bank covering the condition of the 12 Federal Reserve banks during the week ended April 5.

The statement showed that in response to the president's call for a $2,000,000,000 increase in the federal reserve bank notes, the total of $2,383,000,000 had been restored to the treasury and its agencies, bringing the total of such reserves to their highest point since August, 1931. The total, $2,383,000,000, was held exclusively against federal reserve notes.

Against this gold reserve the government had outstanding a total of $3,644,137,000 of federal reserve notes in actual circulation, while only $15,930,000 of the new federal reserve bank notes, constituting the much-discussed "new money," is in actual circulation. Thus far, only five of the 12 regional banks have called themselves "sound assets."

The week's influx represented a gain of $42,071,000 of the precious metal during the week, and a total return of $595,298,000 since the call went out early last month for its muster.

While the banks at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and St. Louis have employed the new currency, the amount outstanding gained $1,702,000 during the week. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York, however, retired $108,000 from actual circulation during the week, apparently portraying increasing confidence as pictured by lessened demand in this country.

In addition, the statement revealed that the monetary gold stocks of the country had increased $11,000,000 during the week to a total of $2,383,000,000, or roughly 37 per cent of the world's estimated total of $11,000,000,000. Miss Moselle Burke Weds Mr. Hodgson In Washington, Ga.

WASHINGTON, Ga., April 6.—The marriage of Miss Moselle Burke, of Washington, and Edward Hodgson III, of Athens, was an outstanding event of the week taking place Wednesday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock at an impressive ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Burke, on Alexander street. Rev. J. O. Brand, pastor of the First Methodist church of Washington, performed the ceremony in the presence of a small gathering of relatives and friends. Pedestal baskets of lilies alight with seven-branched candles were placed before the improvised altar, formed by palms and ferns effectively banked. Mrs. Frank Simmons, sister of the bride, gave a program of music, preceding and during the ceremony.

Mrs. Albert Sams, of Athens, who served as her sister's matron of honor, was given in a stylish model of pink chiffon and carried a bouquet of purple and white lilies. Harry Hodgson Jr., of Athens, acted as his brother's best man.

Duchess satin formed the wedding gown of the attractive bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Thomas A. Burke. Reflecting Elizabethan influence, the gown was made with puffed sleeves and a graceful standing collar, with valley lily lace trimming the bodice. The veil of sheer tulle was caught to the bride's hair with clusters of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of orchids, roses and valley lilies.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Burke entertained at dinner, the handsomely embossed wedding cake forming the centerpiece. Mr. Hodgson and his bride left for a wedding journey, after which they will take possession of their new home on Millidge avenue, Athens. For traveling Mrs. Hodgson donned an ensemble of gray trimmed in platinum fur and worn with navy blue accessories.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. William McNeil Jr., of Marietta; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hodgson, of Athens, parents of the bridegroom; Mrs. E. R. Hodgson, of Athens, grandmother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sams, of Athens; Miss Virginia Hodgson, Harry Hodgson and Robert Hodgson, of Athens; Edward Burke, of Johnson City, Tenn., brother of the bride.

Put more sunshine into your working hours

THESE are days when you require all your energy and "punch" to succeed. To tackle your job enthusiastically you need good health. It is the source of your vitality.

One of the greatest enemies of health is common constipation. This ailment may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Your ability to work may be seriously handicapped.

Overcome common constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN is also rich in iron.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently it helps to clear the system of wastes. Isn't this better than taking patent medicines—so often harmful and habit-forming.

Two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily—as a cereal or in cooked dishes—will correct most types of constipation. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"When you're healthy, you're happy"

"How you feel—and how well you look—depends largely upon the food you eat. Be sure your diet is balanced—with sufficient 'bulk' to promote regularity."

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I am in love with a man that makes love to me but tells me frankly that he will never get married. Before he knew me he was in the same position successively with two other women. One of them warned me when he started rushing me that he would be a fine friend but he would never be anything more. Of course, I didn't believe this, for he was already making love to me and I thought I had him hooked. But now I know she was right in saying he would never come through, only I don't even agree with her that he is a true friend. Despite all this I am in love with him and can't make up my mind to let him go. Isn't a woman a fool? DELL.

ANSWER:

Yes, but a fool to pity, not one to laugh at. If it is true, as some of the sentimentalists tell us, that it is the love we experience and the love we express that gives us the greatest reward, rather than the love felt for us and expressed to us, then the poor fool of a woman who lavishes her time and attention on a man unworthy of her, a man unappreciative of her, is not even to be pitied but to be envied. Most of us mortals, however, are not so philosophical. We want the comforting assurance that our love is reciprocated. We want the comforting assurance that we possess the loved one. We want to feel ourselves essential to the happiness of the loved one. Any theory about love that cannot be proved by our senses fails to satisfy us.

Of course, the man who deliberately goes in to steal a woman's heart with the mental and verbal reservation that he will not marry her even after he has stolen it, is a selfish brute and there is no restitution that he can make. However, he is not concerned with restitution. He is only concerned with his momentary pleasure in his stolen treasure. Somewhere, sometime, he must pay for his crime, but this is small compensation for the woman CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I have been married 10 years to a beautiful woman who is just as good as she is beautiful. Men admire her and tell her so. She is as dependent on their admiration as if she didn't have a husband who appreciated her good looks and her charms. We often have ugly disputes about this weakness of hers. It is not that I doubt her love for me, or her rate goodness, but I can't understand why she should be so concerned with the impression she makes on other men. I suppose I am jealous but don't you think it is natural for a man to feel that way?

THOUGHTFUL HUSBAND.

ANSWER: It is probably natural for a selfish man to be jealous of his wife's enjoyment of other men's admiration. However, it is pretty dangerous business to go through life trying to justify our conduct on the ground that it is based on natural reaction. A good many of our natural reactions cause us no trouble and sorrow unless we are able to sublimate them. A man married to a woman who gives him no reason to doubt her love and loyalty should not want to rob her of the pleasure of being admired. Likewise, the wife who recognizes that in giving way to this weakness she makes her husband unhappy should control her passion for other men's admiration. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

One a Penny, Two a Penny—Hot-Cross Buns

BY FLORENCE La GANKE.

Lois was purchasing hot cross buns. When she reached home she told her young daughter that she had some hot cross buns for Good Friday breakfast. "What are 'hot cross buns' mummy? Why do they call them that? Let me see them. Why can't you make me some here at home? Are they good? What do they taste like?"

Lois almost regretted her introduction of the subject for Ann had reached the "why" age in her conversations. If she asked "why" once during a day she asked it a hundred times. And on the whole, Lois tried to give her real answers to her questions. She did not put her off with "oh, you wouldn't understand" or "if you say 'why' again, Mummy will spank you. I never saw such a child."

Lois realized that a whole new world was opening up before her daughter and was glad that she had initiative enough to wonder and to question. Later in the day she made some hot cross buns. Here is her recipe: She scalded one cup of milk and while it was still hot she added to it one-quarter cup sugar, three teaspoons butter. Meanwhile she crumbled one yeast cake in a small amount of lukewarm water, added a pinch of sugar and set the yeast in a warm place.

When it was foamy the milk had cooled to lukewarm temperature. She had found time to sift, measure and sift three cups flour with one-half teaspoon salt.

She added the frothy yeast to the lukewarm milk mixture. And stirred in an egg well beaten. Then she put in the flour and one-quarter cup currants which she had washed well, drained and dried in the warming oven. She added one-eighth cup citron peel. The mixture was beaten until smooth, covered and set in warm place to rise. When doubled in bulk it was kneaded, covered and set to rise again. Then it was kneaded, shaped into one large bun or two small ones. When shaped these were put on baking sheet or pan, about one-inch apart. When light the top was brushed with beaten egg yolk and milk, the top of each was gashed in two straight lines at right angles to each other. The buns were baked for 25 minutes.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS OF CAPITAL SPLIT OVER JIM FARLEY

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Young democrats of the District of Columbia have split into two organizations all over Jim Farley, party patronage dispenser.
Elizabeth Wheeler, daughter of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, wrote a letter opposing "certain changes that Farley insisted upon in the club's constitution." She was elected vice president of the old organization.
Whereupon, several prominent young democrats walked out, formed a club of their own, and today issued a statement.
"The ones who broke away are not the insurgents. We are the ones sticking by the administration."
In their number were: Radford Ross, son of Nellie Taylor Ross, vice chairman of the democratic national committee; Lyda Mae Francis, secretary to Mrs. Ross; Louise Falligant Geller, young attorney, protégée of Ruth Bryan Owen; Martin Cox, of Georgia; Winfield Scott Mazell Jr.; Francis B. Taylor Jr.; Ralph Lawrence, Homer Tatum and John Goodloe.

Here is a 12-inch block that is really a nine-patch. The squares are assembled by piecing the triangles. The hourglass type of block goes back to the days when patterns were made by folding paper and snipping off a bit with the scissors—folding another time and snipping some more. Plain colors and white are prettiest to carry out such a design, but a print might be used—it should be small for the triangles are quite small. This quilt may be set with strips or alternating plain blocks, as one prefers.
For quilting the large plain blocks, I suggest the ever graceful feather circle, which comes in the right size for these blocks. The same design might be repeated, smaller, of course, on the plain squares of the block. The feather border shown is 5 inches wide and would easily cover two narrow strips.
Number C286 gives accurate cutting pattern and directions. Number C290, 12-inch circle, and number C341, feather band.
Accurate cutting pattern, number C286, 15 cents; number C290, 25 cents; number C341, 25 cents. Allow a week to 10 days for delivery. Clip and mail to Aunt Martha, care of The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Black-Draught For Biliousness
"I have used Black-Draught for years and find it a great relief for headache and constipation and biliousness," writes Mrs. L. B. Crippen, of Pulaski, Ill. Surgeon Closes Pin In Little Girl's Stomach

CHICAGO, April 6.—(AP)—Ten-week-old Marilyn Zeigmond apparently was feeling fairly well today despite the fact a physician took her stomach in his hand to close an open safety pin.
After making an incision in the child's abdominal wall yesterday Dr. Gustav G. Herpe took hold of Marilyn's stomach, and without the use of instruments manipulated it in such a manner that he was able to close the pin. Later the child regurgitated the closed safety pin and the physician announced she was out of danger.
Marilyn received the pin while her mother, Mrs. Benjamin Zeigmond, stood over her last Tuesday. Mrs. Zeigmond had the pin in her own mouth. The child's antics caused her to laugh and it dropped into Marilyn's mouth.
Marilyn promptly swallowed it.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Reversing Sound Theory

There has recently grown up a small cult of players, fortunately centered mostly in New York, who are making a practice of reversing the principle, adhered to for years by all Bridge players, that greater strength is required for an Opening bid in third or fourth position, after partner has passed, than in the position of first or second to speak. The time-honored theory is based upon the sound principle that the purpose of the auction in Contract is to disclose strength. If a player has a bid, he makes it, provided, of course, no other player has already spoken, and his very failure to bid under these conditions clearly suggests that he does not have the strength to justify the making of a bid.

The illogical theory, followed by some Contract players, of passing very strong hands in first or second position and opening weak ones Third or Fourth Hand does not pay in the long run in Rubber Bridge, and assuredly not in Duplicate. An interesting example of the fallacy of passing Opening bids occurred in one of the recent sessions of the Eastern Fair Championship in New York city. The hand was:

Where Mr. George S. Coffin, of Boston, and Mr. C. C. Read, of New York, were sitting South and North, respectively, they had agreed to try out this method of bidding. South, therefore, passed his hand, which, of course, justified the making of a bid. West passed, and North, holding only 1-2 honor-tricks, also passed. East had barely 2 honor-tricks, and as a result the board was passed out.
An analysis of the cards held shows that North and South can make four hearts against anything but the mere exact defense. The most that East and West can make is two spades. It is, of course, doubtful whether the hand would be ably enough to a game bid to North and South players, but, in any event, whether playing Rubber or Duplicate Bridge and whether the stakes are money, medals or chalk, by following this method of bidding, the North and South players forego a valuable part-score or the opportunity to inflict a worth-while penalty upon vulnerable opponents in case they should disregard the dangers of over-bidding and seek to secure the contract.

With the hand below, should North and South reach a Grand Slam, and what would be the steps in the bid-

Baisden Winner Over Billy Wilson

Kid Baisden won a close decision over Billy Wilson in the featured fight on Clive Roby's first card of the year last night at the city auditorium. Baisden won the decision by using his left constantly. Wilson never had a chance to use his right, his favorite punch.

Herbie Newmire knocked out "Blue Goose" Norris in the fourth round of what turned out to be the best fight of the night. Both fighters carried a knockout punch. Norris dropped Newmire once in the first for the

JACKETS OPEN SEASON TODAY WITH AUBURN

Hitchcock and Williams, Grid Stars, Appear Here.

By Jack Troy.

When Auburn's Tigers come to town today for the opening intercollegiate diamond series with Tech's Jackets at the Rose Bowl, Ripper Williams, the Tusculum wizard, will go out to pitch against Sam Stribling, one of the leading hurlers among Coach Bobby Dodd's White and Gold clad athletes.

Coach Sam McAllister is bringing 15 players to Atlanta. Some of them will appear here for the first time, since six players of the championship Dixie league team of last year are gone.

However, Coach McAllister has been working overtime with the squad. It is reported, and Auburn again has a formidable team.

A leading star who will appear here is Jimmie Hitchcock, All-America football player, who is a great shortstop. Hitchcock made the All-Dixie league baseball team last year and is slated to join the Yankees when he finishes school.

Sam Mason, who made the all-star team as an outfielder last year, has been changed to first base, to fill the vacancy left by Harry Lloyd, All-Dixie leaguer who graduated.

It is a promising team that comes here today to meet an equally promising Tech nine.

The game will start at 4 o'clock on the Rose Bowl diamond. Tech will take the field with Hoot Gibson at first, Hardin at second, Captain Bill Hagedorn at third and either Martin or Grossi at short.

In the outfield Johnny Ferguson is slated for left, with Tommy Spradling in center and either Jim Poole or Shorty Roberts in right. Pug Boyd will be behind the bat.

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Krautman Rice

THE MILLION MILE.
The announcement that Joe Kirkwood is off on another brief golf tour with Walter Hagen presents what ought to be an all-time world's record for distance covered by a competitor.

The trick shot star, who recently broke the record at Pinehurst in the last north and south open, was a caller at these headquarters before swinging out on the road again.

In the conversation that followed it developed that Kirkwood had traveled more than 66,000 miles by motor in the last year for the exclusive purpose of playing exhibitions and tournaments.

This may not be a record, but Kirkwood figures that since he started out from Australia around 1920 he has traveled something like a million miles on various golf tours—which happens to be as far as forty times around the earth.

That may seem to be a long hike for the purpose of pursuing a golf ball, but Joe is a natural wanderer, restless, always ready to pack up and move along. He agrees with Kipling—

"Speakin' in general, I've tried 'em all,
The 'appy roads that take you o'er the world;
Speakin' in general, I've found them good
For such as cannot use one bed too long,
But must get 'ence, the same as I've done,
An' go observin' matters till they die."

"Therefore, from job to job I've moved along;
Pay couldn't 'old me when my time was done.
For somethin' in my 'ead upset me all,
Till I 'ad dropped whatever 'twas for good,
An' out at sea, be'eld the dock lights die,
An' met my mate—the wind that traps the world."

THE LONG TOUR.

Kirkwood in the last year played 180 different golf courses. His 66,000 miles of travel by car alone meant more than 1,200 miles a week—more than 150 miles a day for 365 days.

Through the last year or so he has chased the bounding pellet through Japan, Manchuria, parts of China, Australia, Hawaii, England, Scotland and France.

After the short jaunt with Hagen is over he plans another tour with Gene Sarazen, who may take him into practically every state in the union—a tour that should spin out at least another 60,000 miles before it is completed.

Some time before the last north and south open at Pinehurst, Kirkwood abandoned his trick shot repertory for a while to concentrate on the type of shot making that wins a big money tournament.

The result was a 277 over the hard number two Pinehurst course, a matter of 11 strokes under even 4's for 72 holes.

Tommy Armour has said for some time that Kirkwood is the finest of all iron players and in this tournament he had tee shots also working.

Tee Shots Also Working.
"I wasn't putting any too well," Joe said. "With a good putting touch I could have wandered around in the low 60's at almost every start."

Different Game.
Kirkwood can call any type of shot with any club in the bag—hooks, slices, low and high, anything you want.

I asked him why it was that a golfer who could call his shots in this fashion couldn't do the same in a championship.

"They are two entirely different games," the wanderer said. "You have enough to think about in a championship without adding to the complications. In playing so many trick shots—called shots—I have to vary my methods of swinging. What you need in a championship test is one sound method of hitting the ball."

"Few outsiders ever know the hard mental strain of a championship march. It calls for unbroken concentration, hour after hour, and you can't mix this up with anything else. I don't think there is any question that I would have done far better in tournament play if I had never taken up trick shot golf, but I've had a lot of fun from the latter brand and the crowds seem to like it."

"What is the greatest golfing fault?" Joe was asked.

"Too much tension, stiffness and overtrying," Kirkwood said.

"The average golfer never gives himself a chance to get a good swing started. He is tied up in too many knots. His muscles are usually locked through a combination of anxiety and desire in hitting the ball. This restricts the speed of the club head and also kills its proper direction."

"Golf isn't an easy game, but I'm thankful it isn't so hard as most golfers make it with the extra trouble they throw in. They might figure that it would be an easier game if they played it easier."

At any rate, there are more than a few golfers now around who would like to have Joe Kirkwood's job of traveling from 60,000 to 70,000 miles a year where the main idea is to rap one down the fairway. There are several rougher ways to live.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Following are today's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange and the total sales of each bond:

(United States government bonds in dollars and cents; foreign bonds in pounds and shillings.)

Gains of 1 to 6 points in Chicago and Northwestern Railway issues generally were maintained, but advances of a point or more in some other hopeful transportation lines were either whittled down to fractions or transformed into small losses. The United States government bonds, however, continued to edge up fractionally.

Federal loans were sustained by forecasts of a reduction in the rediscout rate of the New York Reserve bank, easier money conditions generally and a quiet but steady demand from public and institutional sources. The rediscout rate was cut to 3 from 3.12 per cent after the market closed. Gains in this section ranged from 4.52 to 14.32 of a point.

Other rail gainers included some loans of Chesapeake Corporation. A heavy tone was displayed by issues of Iron Mountain, Pere Marquette and Baltimore and Ohio.

There was a heavy turnover of Government 5 1/2's at a loss of 2 1/2 points to 39, a new low for the year. Softness of the Germans was believed to have reflected not only the declining Reichsmark, but further political uncertainties.

Sales totaled $10,342,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate bonds eased one-tenth of a point.

NEW YORK, April 6.—With increased talk of inflation, new high prices were established for wheat and corn. Still higher quotations are being predicted for these staples, but the cotton, silver, cocoa and sugar.

Because of the price enhancement in commodities the shares of companies dealing in these and carrying large inventories forged to the front and made substantial gains.

Rumors were current late in the day that the price of copper would be advanced at least one-half cent a pound tomorrow and this stimulated buying of the copper group of stocks.

A general broadening of trading was witnessed and the fact that the volume of business increased as prices advanced was construed as a good omen for the stock market tomorrow. Practically all departments of the list participated in the forward movement of the share list.

RAILROADS HIGHER.

Railroad stocks were leaders in the forward movement, although they were somewhat higher. Good selling, however, is reported appearing in the common railroad equipment legislation will result in a drastic readjustment of capitalizations.

The common carriers showed some improvement early in the day due to an official denial that the Chicago and Northwestern was contemplating going into receivership or reorganization.

Just what caused the circulation of rumors that the company proposed going through a reorganization could not be learned. The promoters of the Chicago and Northwestern were asked for details from its members regarding details in securities of the Chicago and Northwestern on Wednesday.

TARZAN THE APE MAN No. 11

Jean, after watching the hideous dancing natives a moment, remarked jokingly: "Tune's not bad—but I don't care for the words! Do they always dance when they go shopping?" "That's not a dance," replied her father. "They're invoking their gods to get them the best of the bargain."

John Holt now joined them, saying: "I see you're stepping into African society. These are our best people. I'll introduce you." "Thanks," answered Jean. They crossed over to some of the native women, the girl marvelling at the huge earrings she remarked.

"Can't you get me a pair, Mr. Holt?" "I don't think they'd become you," he replied, "besides, it's too late. It's a painful operation—they start stretching their ears from babyhood. The two approached groups of men carrying huge shields. "Why is each shield different?" asked Jean.

"Oh, that's to show the man's standing in the tribe," explained Holt. "For instance, the tall fellow is a direct descendant of chiefs. 'That little fellow looks quite mild,' said Jean. 'He's not really—if you could read his shield. That means he's killed five human beings.' 'Oh!' gasped Jean. Suddenly she noticed something.

Sure, you can spare a dime to see that romping boy of yours feast on nourishing bread that builds strong muscles and gives full energy.

Yes, you can spare a dime to make your little girl's cheeks a little rosier—her eyes a little brighter. We almost said her hair a little curlier!

Certainly, you can spare a dime to bring a happy smile to friend husband's breakfast face—with man size slices of crisp golden toast.

Sure, Mother, you can spare a dime for all that. We've spent our dimes unsparingly to make Rogers Idle Knife loaf extra rich.

MOTHER--Can You Spare a Dime?

for Rich Nourishing Flavor
Extra Milk --
Extra Long Baking

Rogers big new loaf is worth every penny you pay for it. Good bread is like good cake—it's what you put into it that counts—plus how you bake it. That's why we use two kinds of flour instead of one. Hard wheat for firm texture and soft wheat for tenderness and flavor. Extra milk, pure lard, and just the right amount of salt and malt to make it taste so good. Then a quick, tender crust, and a long, slow baking to make it light and wholesome all the way through. Sure, Mother, you can spare a dime for all that.

MRS. DULL APPROVES THIS

PINEAPPLE PRESERVE CAKE

"The long, tender shreds of Coconut and rich pineapple preserves make this cake truly a pineapple delight. I hope you'll like it."

Mrs. S. R. Dull

GREAT spoonfuls of thick, crushed pineapple preserve, mixed with toasted coconut, have been spread on top and between the three delicately flavored layers of this cake. Fondant icing—that good, smooth, white icing—has been dusted with poundcake crumbs, toasted and crushed fine. It is one of the most "more"-ish cakes you ever ate—and the materials alone would cost you 59c.
